Serials, Periodicals and Multi-Volume Sets on microfiche

The IDC microfiche collection, Religion: Serials, Periodicals, and Multi-Volume Sets on microfiche, offers a carefully selected series of one hundred and sixty-nine titles from classic religious and theological periodicals, eminent older research series, standard academic documentary collections, and eminent older encyclopaedias. Research libraries will find the collection, whether in whole or in part, a significant source for major older works in series, now out of print, but of permanent value for scholars and researchers. The scope of the fiche collection is broad, covering such fields as Judaica, Old and New Testament studies, biblical archaeology, church history, Christian missions, major world religions, and select denominational history. At the most general level, the series offers such classic sets as the eighteenth-century Diderot-Alembert Encyclopédie, ou dictionnaire raisonné des sciences (35 vols.), the nineteenth-century Cyclopaedia; or Universal Dictionary of Arts, Sciences, and Literature, ed. Rees (39 vols.) and Monumenta Germaniae Historica (49 vols.), and Annales de Philosophie Chrétienne (165 vols.).

Church history

The depth of the offerings can be illustrated by a brief survey of two fields: first, church history. Here, the collection offers a virtually complete listing of the standard documentary collections. Scholars of the patristic and medieval periods will find the Patrologia of J.P. Migne, in both the Greek (161 vols.) and Latin (221 vols.) series, plus the less-exhaustive but critically superior texts of the Corpus scriptorum ecclesiasticorum latinorum

(66 vols.), the Griechische Christliche Schriftsteller (40 vols.), Patrologia Orientalis (22 vols.), and Patrologia Syriaca (3 vols.). The collection also includes the Mansi Sacrorum conciliorum ... collectio (53 vols.) and the Analecta Hymnica Medii Aevi (55 vols.). Reformation era documents are available in the Corpus Reformatorum (100 vols.: Melancthon, Calvin, and Zwingli) and in the Weimar Kritische Gesamtausgabe of Luther's works (57 vols.). These basic source materials are supplemented by such standard sets as the Texte und Untersuchungen (46 vols.) and Texts and Studies (9 vols.), the Hefele-Leclercq Histoire des Conciles (10 vols.), Revue d'Histoire Ecclésiastique (37 vols.), Recueil des Historiens des Croisades (16 vols.), and the Hauck Realencyclopädie für protestantische Theologie und Kirche (24 vols.). The church historical resources are also augmented with a group of rare older materials, like the late seventeenth-century Rerum concilii oecumenici Constantiensis (6 vols.), and Secoli Agostiniani, overo Historia Generale del Sacro Ordine Eremitano... (8 vols.), and the eighteenth-century Région vengée, ou Réfutation des auteurs impies (21 vols.).

Christian missions

Second, Christian missions: the offerings here derive much of their interest from the age of the records put on fiche, namely, serials concerning missionary efforts from the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries. By way of example, the set contains the eighteenth century Neue Welt Bott. Mit allerhand Nachrichten dern Missionariorum Soc. Jesu (6 vols.) and Lettres édifiantes et curieuses, écrites des missions étrangères ... de la Compagnie de Jésus (26 vols.), supplemented by the late nineteenth-century collection of seventeenth and eighteenth-century sources, the Jesuit Relations, and Allied Documents, concerning missions in New France (73 vols.), as well as the Monumenta Historica Societatis Jesu (6 vols.). Nineteenth-century British mission efforts are documented such sets as the Missionary Chronicle and its continuations (78 vols.), Wesleyan Missionary Notices (71 vols.), and the Annual Report of the London Missionary Society (145 vols.). These introductory comments are, of course, a very selective review of the series, but they ought to be sufficient to indicate its importance and usefulness, particularly given the difficulty of obtaining copies of the works noted - or, indeed, of gathering them together in one place.
