Van Gulik Collection

Dr. Robert H. van Gulik (1910-1967) occupied an extraordinary position among Western sinologists. An accomplished scholar in the traditional Chinese sense, he was well known not only to sinologists but also to a very large number of readers of his detective stories, he was moreover an outstanding linguist and diplomat. But above all he was an expert book collector.

During his long tenure in Asia, with the help of his diplomatic status, he was able to form a private collection which excelled in both quantity and quality. When the collection was acquired by the Sinological Institute of the University of Leiden (The Netherlands) in 1977, it comprised more than 2,500 titles accounting for almost 10,000 volumes, all of these dealing with traditional sinology. But among them were many valuable books on fine arts, classical music, and literature, as well as very rare folk novels. This last category included the primary source materials on which his very scholarly work, Sexual Life in Ancient China, was based.

The microfiche collection

IDC has selected the most interesting, important, and unusual books from this collection for microfiche reproduction. The first microfiche series contains 117 titles representing almost all of the rare folk novels. The second series, which comprises 132 titles, concerns mainly books on literature, painting, calligraphy, and history. The third series has 53 books of music composed for the ancient Chinese musical instrument, the ku-ch'in.

- Part 1 117 rare folk novels
- Part 2 132 titles on literature and the fine arts
- Part 3 53 titles on Chinese music
